Good connections

We do everything we can to make loading, unloading and storage within the port as efficient as possible. Light and heavy traffic can be segregated in a project zone, to ensure quick, easy access to the quays for even highly special transports and constructions. Good infrastructure around the port, including north- and southbound bypass roads, means fast, efficient land transportation to and from the quayside. A central location and excellent road links makes the Port of Grenaa the ideal choice for streamlining the logistics involved in project-related cargo. And our good connections do not stop at logistics. As a member of an extremely proactive business network, we can call on specialists from the surrounding areas. That enables us to manage even the most complicated jobs without delaying a project. That's handy when a shipment needs preparation or extra security before shipping out.
